Case - Timothy N. Pfeiffer, Subject - Homicide, New Brunswick, N. J. DEM/Hall Investigation - Mr. DeM.

     January 22, 1923.   I proceeded to interview Mrs. Hall with regard to the information received from Jim Mills that a servant in the employ of Mrs. Murray (who is Mrs. Hall's Aunt) said that while Mrs. Hall was at the Murray house she was heard to say that she found another letter in Mr. Hall's pocket.   Mrs. Hall has no recollection of any such conversation.

     I then interviewed Mrs. Murray and her three servants, at #67 Livingston St., New Brunswick, N. J. The names of the servants are as follows:- Mary Fox Nolan - Mrs. Christian Nickelsen - Anna Diskin. They all said that at no time did they hear Mrs. Hall make such a remark, nor did they converse with any other persons in which the said remark was referred to.

     I also interviewed Mr. Gorsline, and received from the following information from him:-

     That as far as Mrs. Mills was concerned, he did not think there was anything improper in her conduct. He stated that he had visited her home on a number of occasions but did not notice anything out of the ordinary. Mr. Gorsline then advanced the suicide theory, and after discussing it at length he discarded it and finally advanced the theory that Schneider and the Bahmer girl might know much more than they have told, and if the truth were known it might possibly involve the Middlesex authorities.

     With reference to the burning of Gorsline's automobile, he informed me that there was nothing irregular about it, that on previous occasions he had had difficulty with the ignition, and he spoke to a mechanic about it; that the mechanic thought that it might have been a short circuit - At times he felt the car getting warm, but did not for a moment suspect that it would take fire.
On the particular day when the car had taken fire, it was loaned to the mechanic. Mr. Gorsline further informed me that he has collected the insurance on the said car, and should I call again we could have a more lengthy inter-
